Oxygen Skincare from Switzerland

The images below show the condition of my skin deep down under the surface and beyond the view of the naked eye. It is this deep down condition that signals if the skin care program I follow is effective and what problems I am likely to have in the future if I continue with my skin care plan.

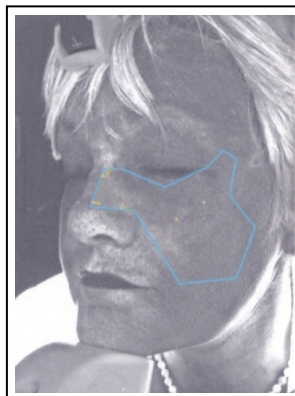

As you will see the results are quite remarkable considering I am knocking on the door of 50 years of age and have been a long-time sun worshiper. Especially remarkably, when you discover that, 12 years ago the reason why I started using Karin Herzog was because my skin was so dry and showing breakout patches of eczema which were growing and causing concern.

Though I hate seeing my image blazoned across the page, I was so impressed with the analysis I am proud to share them with you and show you exactly once and for all, graphically and visually how effective Karin Herzog products are at revitalising, rejuvenating, hydrating, firming, repairing, balancing and detoxifying the skin.....What more can you ask of a skin care regime? Herzog delivers where others only promise

Pores

Do you suffer from enlarged pores?...Know how hard it is to reduce open pores once the skin has stretched? Herzog's Oxygen creams used twice per day can help to reduce the size of the pores making the complexion smoother and finer. See for yourself this image shows far less open pores than typical in a Woman of my age.

UV

Just look at this result. I have been in the sun regularly, since a child. In fact these images were taken at the height of summer. The levels of UV damage within my skin are dramatically lower than normal levels for someone my age. This indicates that using my Oxygen creams regularly as I do has helped prevent damage and problems for the future, and enabled my skin to keep itself in great shape.

Wrinkles

It happens to us all and if you are needle phobic like me you will want to do all you can to reduce lines without resorting to botox or a procedure. Now you can. These wrinkles (or laughter lines as I call them) Show my age to be around 10 years younger than I actually am...what a result. Use Herzog Oxygen creams daily for similar results of your own.

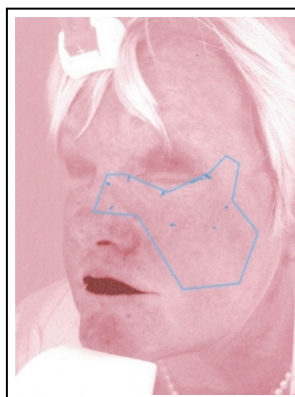

Spots

SPOTS??? These are slight blips underneath the skin and again are lower than normally expected in someone of my age. I had make up on at the time the images were take and this could also affect the result here if the camera picked up pigments from the make up. I am happy with this level, and am, confident they will not appear as surface spots, since I don't get those since using Herzog!

Porphyrins

This indicates the level of bacteria deep within the skin. I took this test 9 hours after applying Vita-A-Kombi 2 and after dashing around central London for hours! You would expect the bacteria levels to be higher, but as you can see the oxygen has kept the levels down considerably giving a real boost for the skin and allowing it to breath and function normally.

Red

This shows the redness present underneath the skin, that normally manifests as broken capillaries and redness on the surface. As you can see the result is impressive. Broken veins run in my family and I expected to see more underlying redness. This results indicates that if I carry on with my routine as now, redness and broken capillaries will not be a problem in the foreseeable future.
